within 30 days if there were no delays.

Under the Levitt and Sons, Inc., package deal, no bond issues are necessary. The entire financing will be handled by the non-profit corporation. The lease will begin as soon as the schools are completed. Completion date has been set for September, 1954.

The two school buildings will contain the latest modern conveniences, Levitt said. In addition to the cafeteria and the auditorium, each room will have more than necessary space required by the State Department of Public Instruction.

Each classroom of the one-story building will have a separate entrance and separate toilet facilities. The structure is so designed that sunlight will pass over the left shoulder of each pupil. The kitchen, cafeteria and auditorium are in the center of the building.

PTA MEETS

At the executive session of the Croydon Parents-Teachers Association last night final plans for a fund-raising party were completed.

Eddington Reports 20 Fires for Month

Twenty fires were reported in Eddington during September, Chief William Thomas told members of the Eddington Fire Co. last night. The fires included 13 field fires, one acetylene tank, one barn, two trees, one oil drum, one dump and one refrigerator.

Two new firemen Thomas Palmer, Fineley and Woodbine avenues and Sherwood Burns, Central avenue, Bensalem twp., were inducted into the company.

Plans for an oyster and ham supper at the fire house were made for Oct. 31.

Jersey hook-up. It is only six miles from the main stem of the New Jersey Turnpike to the Delaware River, he said, and construction problems will not be as difficult as the Pennsylvania project.

Time a Factor

"Not only is the construction of a tunnel not economically feasible," added Rose, "but such an operation would take upwards of four years."

As an example of the time required in building a tunnel, Rose called attention to the proposed tunnel under the Hudson River in New York City. The schedule lists the completion of the project as seven years after actual construction begins.

ified with the results of the conference.

The air vents will be used to aerate a tunnel that will hold heating pipes, sewage lines, and electrical conduits. The school building is scheduled for completion September, 1954.

Fearing a possible slowdown in construction, Shafer said: "We must have the school completed by next September to overcome crowded conditions. Any slow down now must jeopardize the entire project."

Attending the meeting were James Laughlin, Building Trades Councilman; Judson Williams, township solicitor; and J. P. Pharo, architect.

Truscott is Named Attorney General

HARRISBURG, Oct. 14 — INS — Pennsylvania's new attorney general is a 59-year-old veteran Republican and former Philadelphia city solicitor who served hand in hand with Gov. John S. Fine in the old Pinchot organization.

He is Frank F. Truscott, who was sworn in Tuesday at the state capitol.

Truscott fills a $15,000-a-year post vacated by Robert E. Woodside when Governor Fine elevated him to the State Superior Court Oct. 1.

Truscott attended public schools at East Stroudsburg, graduated from Lafayette College and University of Pennsylvania Law School. Milk is less likely to stick to the bottom of the pan in which it's heated if you rinse the pan in cold water before pouring in the milk.

a $600,000 fund for the 1954 campaign.

The affair drew people from all over Pennsylvania, cabinet officers and congressional leaders.

Later in the sports arena, the President joined the 6,000 paying guests for a two and one-half hour entertainment program.

Gift of $770,000

Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower made their entrance in a buckboard. The arrangements committee had seated the President on the right side instead of in the normal driving position on the left.

The President's gift was a $770,000 Eisenhower Exchange Fellowship fund, suggested by Mrs. Eisenhower, "to foster friendship between the United States and other nations."

"This could be the most meaningful thing that has happened in our time," the President said. "International friendships overshadow all else. Knowledge itself is not enough; what we need is understanding."

The program was ended with "The Song of America" accompanied by an impressive pageant depicting the founding of America.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLASSES SCHEDULED AT NEW HOPE

Record Attendance Listed For P. T. A.

An explanation of the proposed Bucks County health department was one of the features of the first meeting of Centennial School parent teachers ass'n. Warminster twp., Oct. 8. There was a record attendance of 390.

*Mrs. Leonard Pfeiffer, Jr., Newtown, a member of Bucks Co. Citizens' Health Council emphasized the need for a county health unit.

"Establishing a county department of health is really a decentralization of the state department of health in Harrisburg", Mrs. Pfeiffer pointed out. "It is bringing public health to a local level where it is in a position to help the people more speedily and effectively than a distant situated state health department can."

DISCUSSION SCHEDULED

A meeting of Maple Shade-Newportville Parent-Teacher Association will be held Oct. 15, eight p. m. in Newportville school. The topic to be discussed will be "The Child and His School."

Fine Frees Man Jailed 10 Years In Attack Case

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 14 — Gene Louis Capone, Trenton, who was sentenced by Judge Calvin S. Boyer in Quarter Sessions Court here Oct. 5, 1943, to serve from 12½ to 20 years in the Eastern State Penitentiary, was among the 33 prisoners whose commutations of sentence were approved by Governor John S. Fine in Harrisburg.

County Detective Anthony Russo was the investigating officer for Bucks county and Judge Edward G. Biester was serving as District Attorney. Capone appeared in criminal court here during the September term in 1943.

Chief Deputy Walter Schroeder, of Quarter Sessions Court, described Capone's case as one of the vilest ever heard here.

Capone brought a woman, a soldier's wife, whose husband was overseas, from New Jersey to Bucks county and attacked her.

When Capone was transferred from the Bucks County Prison to the Eastern State Penitentiary in Philadelphia, he boasted that "the pen will never hold or keep me in all those years."

Capone was sentenced on several bills of indictment, involving morals charges, and received 7½ to 15 years on rape bills.

The minimum would have been 12½ and the maximum 20 years.

Gov't At 2 Levels To Be Discussed

A meeting of Tullytown Home and School League will be held Oct. 19 at eight p. m. in Tullytown Fire Co. station.

Topic of the program will be "Government on Local and State Levels as it Pertains to Schools". John Linscott will address the group. There will be an explanation of the supervisors' duties and those of the school directors. The League of Women Voters of Tullytown area will stage a skit about the U. N. in observance of United Nations Week.

A short business meeting will be followed by refreshments. All residents of Tullytown and Levittown section of that borough are invited to attend.

"Indian Summer" Listed As Cub Scouts' Theme

Heading into the Fall season, Newtown Cub Scouts under the leadership of Cubmaster Harry Pfeiffer will use as the theme of the Oct. 23 meeting, "Indian Summer". The meeting will be held in Neshaminy Valley Youth Center at eight p. m.

A unique presentation will be made in the form of a duplicate Indian Village, which will be constructed in the Center. The cubs will dress in Indian garb, making a colorful and realistic scene.

With a membership of 40, and more Cubs coming in all the time the spirit of cooperation is high and exciting. Achievement and elective awards will be presented by assistant Cubmaster L. Russell Davis.

Newtown Exchange Club, the sponsoring organization will furnish refreshments at this meeting.

MEETING SET

Bristol Township Commissioners will meet at 8 tonight in Edgely Fire Hall for a regular business meeting.

Several Curly Cues For Hair With a Tendency to Be Wavy

GIVE HAIR a thorough shampooing. Then, while it's still wet, comb it straight, pushing gently to make the wave lines appear.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IT would seem as if nature bestows naturally curly hair on more boys than girls. It probably isn't so, but girls always seem to be regarding boy's wave lines with envy. And the boys seem to hate curls. They're always slapping them down flat.

Don't Appreciate It

Also it would seem that some curly-haired girls do not appreciate this blessing. They make little effort to preserve the natural waves. It's a shame. If hair has the slightest tendency to curl, the pattern can be made clearer, more distinct with wave settings, using a lotion to give the pattern stronger outlines.

When shampooing, the job must be complete and thorough. The slightest bit of soap deposit left on the shafts will ruin the coil quality.

A liquid soap or cream shampoo medium should be used. There should be two applications, each one followed by a thorough rinsing. Then, one should turn on the hot water and give the glorious mop a steaming. Cold water should never be used.

Forming Wave Lines

While the hair is wet, comb it straight and flat the way you want it to go. Then, push it gently forward and the wave lines will appear. Press the ridges to make them stronger. You can buy little metal clamps that will keep each wave in place.

FILM TELLS HOW BIBLES REPLACED BULLETS

Residents of this area are awaiting release locally of the film "DeShazer" at Calvary Baptist Church, Oct. 24th.

Sixteen twin-engine B-25s took off the U.S.S. Hornet on April 18, 1942, to bomb Japan. Two of the planes crash landed in enemy territory. Eight of the flyers were captured by the Japanese. Three were executed, one died of starvation. Four continued as prisoners of Japan to the close of the war.

One of these, Jacob DeShazer, through the influence of the Bible while he was still in prison decided, if ever released, to return to Japan as a missionary. This he did.

A full length sound color moving picture entitled "DeShazer," just released, depicts the dramatic life and experiences of this "Doolittle Raider who turned missionary".

Ten years ago it was bombs. Today it is the Bible and good will.

DeShazer is working with different Christian organizations in Japan fulfilling his promise to God which he made as a prisoner of war while in solitary confinement.

Last April, in Miami Beach, Florida, the Doolittle Raiders held a meeting celebrating the Tenth Anniversary of the bombing of Japan.

Dr. C. Hoyt Watson, President of Seattle Pacific College was their invited guest. The men were anxious to do something to help the Japanese people. Dr. Watson told them about DeShazer, his imprisonment, his conversion, his return to Japan as a missionary. As a result DeShazer was "adopted" as their project and they unanimously endorsed both the DeShazer book and the DeShazer film. All royalties from the book and offerings from the film go to support the film and DeShazer's evangelistic work.

Defective Burner Smokes Up Home

A fire caused by a defective oil burner at the home of Mrs. Jefferson was quickly put out by the fire department early yesterday. Fire Chief said that only one piece of apparatus was called to the scene.

Firemen cut off the electrical circuit to the burner, vented the duct to the burner, removed the burner and kept flames from spreading.

Is Your Home Next?

At this time of the year the fire departments are kept busy by fires started when oil burners back-fire. Even without fire, the damage can be extensive.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The earth is the Lords and the fullness thereof.—Ps. 24:1.

There never has been a time when some tyrant nation has not imagined they could enslave the whole world. Grasping individuals have thought they could get gain and make no adequate return. God has defeated and rebuked them.

Fall Again Brings Crop of U.S. Haters

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 (INS)—The melancholy days have come, and I have just sent out for my annual allotment of sack cloth and ashes to get in time with the season.

This is the time of year when American magazine editors feel it is their sacred duty to build a brisk fire under their fellow citizens with a rash of imported articles entitled, "Why Europeans Hate Americans" and the U. S. A."

Or, if the editor has imagination, he can substitute for "Europeans" any one of the following, "South Americans," "Asiatics," "Arabs," "South Africans," "Australians," "Indians," "Burmese," "British," "English," "Irish," "Welsh," "Scotch," ad infinitum.

The editor can pick and choose. Obviously, we haven't got a friend in the world. Or, at least, we haven't got a friend who writes. Or even telegraphs, for that matter.

The open season on Americans and the U.S.A. has been launched this year by two of Henry R. Luce's magazines, now on the newsstands. Mr. Luce has employed a British Labor M. P. and a Canadian editor to let us see ourselves as others see us, and let us tell you, honey, we are a revolting sight!

We still have terrible manners; we are still incessantly drunk, noisy and disorderly; we are our usual blood-thirsty, war-minded selves. We continue to be hideously materialistic, we have no standards, and if we are callous enough to permit another economic depression, it will be the end of Europe.

The fact that it might also be the end of the U.S.A. is, natch, all to the good.

Nothing basically new has been added to these old-time tried and tested charges against us, except the nasty possibility that we will invoke a depression and ruin the old world. There is no use in inventing new charges when the old ones always sell so readily: foreigners wouldn't recognize an American tourist who wasn't a beast or a U. S. soldier who wasn't drunk and about to assault the innkeeper's daughter.

American editors apparently suffer from a hair-shirt complex, and a determination that their readers share the shirt. Their grim determination to hire outside talent to hold the mirror up to American nature is doubtless admirable, but I wish they'd get the mirror some place other than from the fun house at Coney Island.

If editors insist on such articles, however, I wish they'd keep the money at home. American writers have to eat, too. I have read so many of these creeds dissecting us unspeakable American in the past 20 years that I know them by heart.

In fact, I can turn them out with one hand tied behind the typewriter, and shall be happy to do so for a proper stipend. It's simple as shooting fish in a barrel. If you are writing from the Asiatic point of view, the emphasis is on our crass materialism; if from the British point of view, on the untrustworthiness of our trigger finger in the present international situation, and on ad infinitum.

Of course, every foreign critic, some place in his article, emphasizes our "child-like" generosity. This is a way of saying that our money is just dandy in the form of gifts and loans, but that we ourselves are too stupid to be trusted with it.

Even Sir Winston Churchill, of all people, has gotten in on the act. In the last 30 seconds of his fascinating speech to the Conservative Party last week, he managed to blame the United States not only for World War II but for World War I!

It looks like a long, cold winter ahead. Wouldn't be surprised before it's over to learn that the U.S.A. incited the destruction of Carthage, the sack of Rome, and the children's crusades.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Fulton Lewis, Jr.
(Copyright, 1953,
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 — An interesting postscript to Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam's recent appearance before the House Un-American Activities Committee indicates that the Bishop may have stretched at least one point in trying to clear himself of any association with Communist-tainted groups.

The evidence at hand shows that it actually took him nine months longer than he said it did, to disassociate himself from one organization after he had determined to his own satisfaction that it had Communist backing.

The incident involves the now-defunct magazine, "The Protestant Digest." Questioned by the committee about his connection with it, Bishop Oxnam testified that in March, 1940, he had agreed to go on the magazine's editorial board.

He said he did so in response to an invitation from the publication's editor, Kenneth Leslie, who sent him a letter listing the then-members of the board. Bishop Oxnam said he was impressed by some of the names thereon, and that he accepted the invitation after Mr. Leslie had told him the membership would entail "as much or as little" time and work as the Bishop himself would choose to put into it.

The Bishop said he resigned from the board by letter to Mr. Leslie, dated Feb. 11, 1942.

"Now," he testified, "why did I resign? Because Mr. Roger Baldwin of the American Civil Liberties Union one day came to me and said, 'Bishop, I wonder if you know who is really back of the Protestant Digest?'"

"I said, 'What do you mean?' he said, 'I would look into it very carefully. I think that magazine has Communist support.'"

"Mr. Roger Baldwin is a man who knew that whole field intimately. I resigned because of what he told me, after having looked into the matter."

So, said the Bishop, he wrote his Feb. 11, 1942 letter to Mr. Leslie, stating that the "Protestant Digest" was engaging in some activities of which the Bishop did not approve, and concluding, "I think I must ask you to accept my resignation and to drop my name from the list of editorial advisers."

Questioned, the Bishop was unable to give any reason why the magazine still carried his name as an editorial adviser in its August-September, 1942, issue.

Mr. Leslie now comes up with the answer. He gives it in a mimeograph periodical called "One." It further identifies itself as "formerly the Protestant," and as edited by Kenneth Leslie.

In a lengthy review of the entire matter, Leslie said he had received the Feb. 11 letter but that he had immediately "written to Bishop Oxnam pleading with him to reconsider his resignation." In September, he said he received "a very friendly letter" from the Bishop enclosing "an article by a former student of his — for possible use in the Protestant."

"The very friendly letter of Sept. 1, 1942, gave me hope that he was reconsidering," Leslie says. "And this turned out to be correct. For on Nov. 30, 1942, he wrote again as follows: 'After carefully considering the whole question of remaining on the list of editorial advisers of the Protestant, I have decided to resign.'"

"This will, we hope, make it clear why Bishop Oxnam's name appeared on our masthead until November, 1942, after which it was removed."

Bishop Oxnam's appearance before the House Committee was planned well in advance. He had several weeks in which to prepare his testimony, to search all his records, correspondence and other material which might be helpful in that testimony.

To the casual bystander, it does seem a bit curious that he found the February 11 letter, which he told the committee constituted his final resignation from the editorial board, but that he failed to find either the "very friendly" letter of September 1 or the second resignation letter, dated November 30th.

U. S. Deficit Higher Than a Year Ago

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(INS)—Treasury ledgers show that the government's finances came out a little better than expected during the first three months of the current fiscal year but not as well as in the same period last year.

Treasury experts said the government's income was about 200 million less than expected during the first quarter of fiscal year 1954, but the government also spent 300 million less.

However, the deficit figure entered on the treasury ledgers for Oct. 1 — the latest statement available — was $4,754,247,415, slightly higher than the $4,357,571,561 chalked up last year at this time.

New industries, new families—and in several cases, whole new communities—require greatly expanded telephone facilities. More than one third of Pennsylvania's 3,000,000 telephones have been installed in the last seven years!

TELEPHONES TELL THE STORY OF GROWTH

Since the first Pennsylvania Week, in 1946, the face of the state has changed. You see it in the dynamic new industries and in the sprawling communities that seem to spring overnight from farmland. But your surest measure of this progress is the telephone that you depend on daily.

As Pennsylvania grows, thousands of new telephones must be installed. And as demand increases, existing service methods are improved and new methods devised. On this, the eighth observance of Pennsylvania Week, we move toward the future with one objective—to bring you the fastest and most flexible telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Telephone service here in Pennsylvania depends on the teamwork of 36,000 people—8000 of whom have joined the Telephone Company since 1946. Working with such new developments as "Push Button" dialing of Long Distance calls, shown above, they bring you the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

Since 1946, the Telephone Company has installed nearly 4,000,000 miles of wire—99 percent of it in stormproof cable—to take care of Pennsylvania's growing requirements. These vital arteries link defense centers, serve rapidly expanding new communities.

In the last seven years, nearly a half-billion dollars has been spent on a continuing program of telephone construction. During this period, 88 new buildings have been completed, and important additions made to 93 others.

Your Birthday

by STELLA

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14 —

Born today, you have quick perceptions, are very practical when it comes to working out your ideas, and have little use for those who dilly-dally when it comes to getting a job finished that needs to be done right away. You are impulsive by nature and must teach yourself to think before you speak. Otherwise, your frank nature is likely to exert itself and you will say things on the spur of the moment that you will regret the next instant.

You have very strong likes and dislikes and are apt to get "set in your ways" a little too easily. Learn to be a little more flexible and look on the other person's side before making up your mind. For, once you do, nothing short of a miracle will permit you to change it. And you're not one to believe in every-day miracles, either!

You have the capacity for a very deep love, but you would like nothing less than to be caught making a display of your affections. In fact, the one you love may have a really rugged time discovering it. A little less repression in this regard might make for greater — and an earlier — happiness in marriage.

You have a gift of being able to speak in public and work dealing with people will appeal to you. You could never enjoy a desk job where you had little or no contact with the public. Look for an inheritance in your mid-twenties; then spend it wisely.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, October 15
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — In very important matters today, do not trust to memory alone. Make written notes of important details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) — Procrastination is not a good idea. Do what needs to be done, right away. It is important to your future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — This may be one of those times when talking over future plans with a close friend helps to clarify them.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Plan for the future, all right, but don't neglect today's tasks. See that they are efficiently done, too.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Be very meticulous of all detail work and you can avoid any possible margin of error.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) — Don't ever be afraid to ask for necessary help on a job. You can enlist all you need, with ease.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) — You will get a lot more work done today, if you follow a set schedule with proper efficiency.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21) — No matter how tired you are of a job, make sure that you apply yourself to it conscientiously and get it done.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Patience will make it easier for you to cope with today's problems and get a lot more work done.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Pay no attention to gossip. Most likely it is quite untrue. At best, it will be an exaggeration of fact.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — If changes have been pending, this is the day when they are most likely to occur. Be prepared for them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — The evening should bring a pleasant, social affair which will relax tensions and give you new interests.

Luke 6:37 (R. S. V.)—Judge not, and you will not be judged; condemn not, and you will not be condemned; forgive, and you will be forgiven.

How are the misdeeds of others to be treated? This is one of the foremost issues of our day because of the problems of our modern way of life. And it is interesting to note that the scriptures give some very pointed advice in this area. We are not to return good for evil, but are not to condemn evil. We are to forgive the offender, not the offense.

Whenever we are tempted to judge another person we should bear in mind that God alone should judge, for he alone knows the secrets of men's hearts. The thought that men must forgive if they wish to be forgiven runs throughout the teachings of Jesus Christ, and all of us should sharpen our Christian consciences so that one of our strongest desires will be to seek and find God's forgiveness.

CORINNE VICKERY IS WED TO AIRMAN H. J. BARTON

The marriage of Miss Corinne Ann Vickery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Vickery, Jr., 53 Graystone Lane, Levittown and Airman 1/c Hugh J. Barton, of Pope Airforce Base, Ft. Bragg, N.C., son of Mrs. Hugh J. Barton, 589 Swain street, took place Oct. 10 in St. Mark's R. C. Church at 10 a.m. The Rev. Albert Glass officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The maid of honor was Miss Valerie Vickery, Hopewell, N. J., cousin of the bride; bridesmaids, Miss Carol Marshall, Pennington, N. J., cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Sabol, Wilson avenue. Mr. John McKnight, Buckley street, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Robert Stone, Swain street, and Mr. Salvatore Accardi, Lafayette street. Breakfast was served at Pennsylvania Inn, Falls twp. A reception for 200 guests was held in Trenton, (N. J.) Armory.

The newlyweds are participating in a trip through New England states and to Niagara Falls, N. Y. and Canada.

The bride is a graduate of the Trenton, (N. J.) high school and Mercer Hospital School of Nursing, (Trenton) class of '53. The bridegroom, a graduate of Bristol high school, was employed at Rohm and Haas Co. prior to enlisting in the U. S. Airforce, where he is a radio technician.

COURIER SPORTS--Complete Local Coverage Daily--COURIER SPORTS

in this Corner

with JOE MUCH

The reporter who courses through heavy concentrations of fandom that guard the fringes of Lower Bucks County League football lawns often can exhibit a collection of battle scars by midseason.

Similarly, he can exhibit a collection of impressions that fit best in a piece of this nature. Things like this:

BEST TEAMS GOING NOWHERE: Delhaas and Morrisville. The Tigers' second half says have proven catastrophic in key games. Their hot-and-cold running attack has been disfranchised too frequently by fumbles in enemy terrain and untimely pass interceptions. Yet Coach John Antoni has assembled one of the finest defensive lines extant.

Morrisville, equipped with zesty fellows and a frisky attack, has been undone three in five games because of defensive foibles.

BEST ONE-PLAY THREAT: Bristol's Larry Cohen. This squat sprinter has the speed and savvy to disappear if given a sliver of daylight.

HANDIEST PLAYER: Averill Queen of Pennsbury. He does everything but parks cars. The boy punts, dropkicks, passes and runs like a buck, and catches passes and defends his flank like the end he is.

BEST PASS COMBINATION: Ken Kauffman and Don Cameron of Neshaminy. The bread, the butter and sometimes the jelly of the Redskins' attack has been the conclusion of this pair. Cameron probably is the league's finest receiver. He moves well in pursuit of the leather and has sure fists. A southpaw, he is equally adept at launching his own brand of passes out of Neshaminy's single wing.

Kauffman, a passing virtuoso, has been known to leg it downfield in time to park under Cameron's tosses. It's a reversible combination.

WORKHORSE: Morrisville's Frank Pesce. A T-quarterback, Pesce permits himself none of the luxuries of his breed. He hugs the ball frequently himself on sneaks and boogie plays, executing either with finesse. His passing is improving. Defensively the busy junior—a 48-minute man—backs a line not celebrated for its strength and defends well against passes.

MOST COURAGEOUS RUNNER: Hands down, it's Council Rock's Bob Teschner. Low-slung and fragile, Teschner hurls himself with abandon at the enemy despite negligible blocking. He seldom surrenders to a single tackler.

HARDEST HITTING RUNNER: Give it to Delhaas' Bob Morris, a bulldozer in cleats. Morris blocks for himself, punishing tacklers with blazing arms, elbows and shoulders.

BEST OPEN FIELD BLOCKER: Dave Bray, Pennsbury's scoring threat, rates high, although there is a tendency to overlook his skills in this department.

MOST ORDERLY ROOTERS: They follow Delhaas and Pennsbury, cheer boisterously and regard their darlings as genuine VIP, yet they refrain, by and large, from unseemly comment and demonstration.

BEST "ALL-BUSINESS" TEAMS: Bensalem and Neshaminy. They start looking for open doors from the bell, have no time for subtleties.

MOST REASSURING PERFORMANCE: Dom Sagolla's manning the ramparts when home fans threatened to stampede over what they construed as official discrimination against the Council Rock team in a game at Bristol. Visibly disturbed himself, the CR coach, with uncommon restraint, managed to soothe the mob and prevent a possible riot.

The nature and cause of the complaint is of no importance here. Sagolla's demonstration is important as an example of courage.

BEST HALFTIME SHOW: The legendarian of Joyce Rauch, Bristol High's accomplished twirler, as she executes her diodes prettily adorned in an abbreviated costume.

BEST BET: Neshaminy to wrap up its second straight championship but not until closing day against Bensalem.

MEETING SITE CHANGED FOR PIAA OFFICIALS

The District 1, PIAA basketball rules interpretation meeting, set for Oct. 19, will be held in Stewart Junior High School, Norristown, instead of in Norristown High as previously announced.

Members of the Bucks County Chapter of PIAA officials have been informed that the affair will start at 7:30 p. m.

COACH WILL QUIT, CITES "PRESSURE"

DAYTON, O. — INS — Joe Gavin, head football coach at the University of Dayton, will quit at the end of this season because of "pressure of outside groups."

Gavin, mentor of Dayton U. since 1947, said the "pressure" was too much for his own peace of mind and worked a hardship on his family.

Auto Boys Tightens Hold On 1st Place In Major Bowling; 3-Way Tie For 2nd

Auto Boys Department Store bagged five wins in six games over the past two weeks to tighten its hold on first place in the Bristol Major Bowling league.

The Boys slapped a 3-0 blanking on Standard Steel, then trimmed St. Ann, 2-1. Meanwhile, Cadillac Bar, Parkway Inn and Sanitary Disposal settled into a three-way tie for second place, well off the pace set by the Auto Boys.

High team three game standard was set by Cadillac Bar with 2813 pins, while Thoma of Parkway Inn checked in with an individual high triple of 654.

Bristol JHS Tops Pemberton, 13-7, In Third Victory

Bristol Junior High racked up its third straight win yesterday topping Pemberton Junior High, 13-7, on the local gridiron. Coach Joe Sagolla's team is undefeated.

The Junior Warriors scored their first TD in the second quarter when Art Mancuso dashed 30 yards around end after receiving a reverse from Ronnie Murray.

In the third period, Murray tossed a pass to Bob Liberatoro, covering 20 yards, for a touchdown and the game pair executed the PAT.

Pemberton's touchdown came in the last quarter on a 30-yard pass, Bob Roff to Jack Clark. Roff placed-kicked the conversion.

Andy Perseponko and Jim Daniels played fine defensive ball for the winners.

Favorites Reach LGC Semi-finals

The favorites, Bob McLelland and steady Al Verker, along with two hopeful outsiders, have battled into the semi-finals of the Levittown Golf Club's first annual championship tournament.

Verker, possibly the club's most skilled match player, worked his way into the round of four recently with an overwhelming triumph over formidable Jim Bralley of Langhorne Golf Club's rolling links.

The smooth-swinging salesman ended the match on the 13th hole after taking a commanding lead over the front nine.

Next for Verker will be Bill Mobley, a low 80's golfer who could make it tough for the favorite on a good day. Mobley eliminated Charles Hanse in first round play.

McLelland, who put away Dewar Allen in his first match, is paired off with another Allen, Art, in semi-final play. Art Allen eliminated Fred Leise in a close well-played match.

Second round play will be concluded by the end of the coming week-end, the LGC's tournament committee announced, and the championship will be decided before Oct. 26.

Meanwhile, Gene Michelson, Tony Punzavitz, Sid Soloway and Rudy Steiner became winners in second flight handicap bracket play over the first round.

Michelson ousted Harry Klama, Punzavitz defeated Vance Dailey, Soloway put out Jack Lewburg and Steiner was winner over George Kovarie. Second round pairings pit Michelson and Punzavitz, Soloway and Steiner.

There will be a consolation flight for all first round losers with prizes available for winners and runner-ups in each flight. Matches may be played on any course by mutual agreement of the competitors.

The championship tourney concludes a season of six competitive outings for the brand new organization. It held monthly tournaments at full handicap over the summer months.

A dinner meeting, set early in November, will wind up the season officially. The club champion will be crowned at the affair.

Levittown Golf Club will hold one of its most significant meetings of its short history tonight at 8:30 in William Penn Center, Fallingston. It has been announced by Gene Michelson, secretary-treasurer.

On the agenda will be the election of permanent officers for the 1954 season, setting of final plans for the annual dinner and for the Winter program and the showing of color movies of the recent Ryder Cup challenge matches.

The group will also be brought up to date on the first annual championship tournament, now in progress.

Falcons Set Football Father's Night

Bensalem High's footballers will have their hands full of two enemy squadrons Friday night when they meet Pennsbury High under the lights at Morrisville.

They will have to deal with the school's formidable Falcons on the field, and the Falcons' fathers from the side tapes.

It will be Father's Night for PHS, according to Pennsbury Athletic Director George Jarmoska. All dads of Pennsbury players have been invited to attend. They will wear miniature footballs with name tags on their lapels as they enter the game. From there junior high players will usher them to their seats on a bench right alongside the players' bench.

Fathers will wear large placards on their backs, bearing numbers corresponding to those worn by their sons.

The "night" is an annual affair at Pennsbury and an effort to better team-school-parental relations.

"And," says Jarmoska, "it's a natural in this game. We've played Bensalem five times and only whipped them once."

There will be a consolation flight for all first round losers with prizes available for winners and runner-ups in each flight. Matches may be played on any course by mutual agreement of the competitors.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Question

J E Q W X R S E B R S V E E P E E P M
B X H J W K I Q X F E J E U J Z Q B R E
I J V M P W X R S S B X X B T P V Q W I
T P P M E — E P W W K E E W.

Yesterday's Cryptogram: YOU MUST NOT SUPPOSE... THAT I NEVER TRIED TO EARN AN HONEST LIVING—SHAW.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:

Party Planner Has Guest List Troubles

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm planning a boy-girl party for the first time in my life and I've run into a couple of snags. First, many of my girl friends go to other schools and I've never seen their steady boy friends. That means that my guest list is made up for girls I know well and boys I don't know at all. So should I send an invitation to each girl, telling her to bring her own escort, or should I send the boys invitations too? "Our house is too small for dancing, so I'm thinking of having a scavenger hunt. Have you any suggestions for other games we could play?" First off, how are you going to get the names and addresses of all those steady boy friends without calling up your girl friends first and spilling the party beans? It seems easiest, under the circumstances, to send out invitations only to the girls on your list and ask them to include their steadies in your bid. That way the boys won't be getting an invitation from a girl they don't know and be tempted to turn it down without checking first with their girl friends.

Games galore for the party you're planning are to be found in my free booklet called GAMES. I'm sending you a copy right away so you can get on with your party planning. But I'll be glad to send anyone else a free copy — a gesture toward more fun at more parties. Just write me for it care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped

WHOSE PARTY IS THIS?

"Dear Miss Woodward: Is it customary at a wedding to invite the special boy friends of the maid of honor and bridesmaids, and the special girl friends of the best man and the ushers?"

At a wedding, all eyes are on the bride and groom, with the bride lined up in pairs to attend dates with anybody. They're part of a ceremony, they complete a picture, they stay together because they're attending a very special couple. They have special responsibilities toward each other, and really have no time for having dates with other guests.

Of course, if the steadies of your bride party happen to be very good friends of yours they will probably be invited to the wedding. For their own sake and because of their relation to the bride or the groom, they'll be included in the guest list.

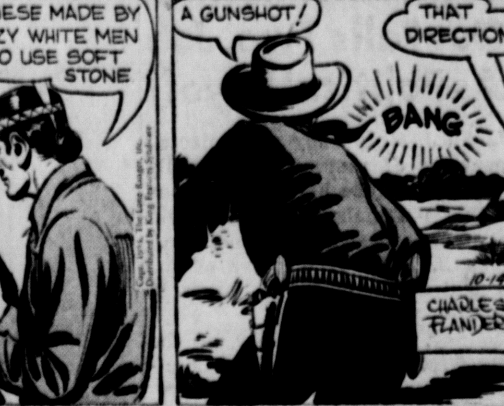

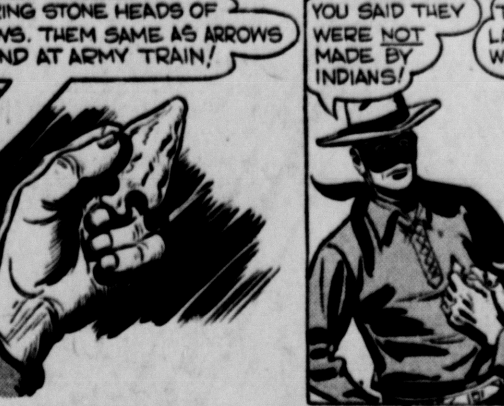

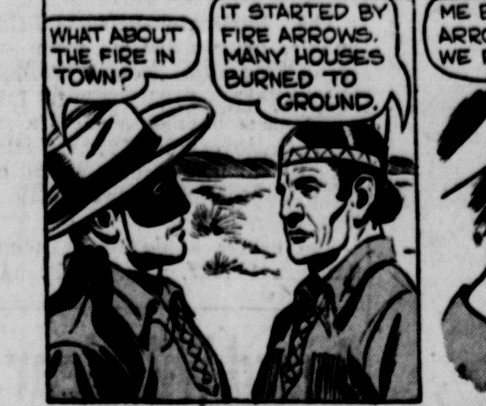

But inviting complete strangers, just because members of your bride party think they can't be happy on this occasion without the people they usually date — no.

Doheny Replies To Charges On Recreation Job

Denies McInerney Got Falls Twp. Job As Political Payoff

"John J. McInerney was selected supervisor of recreation for Falls township because his qualifications for this particular job make him the most desirable candidate," James P. Doheny, member of the Township School Board, asserted today.

Doheny, also a member of the Falls Township Recreation Council, answered charges made recently by A. Patrick Brennan, chairman of the Levittown Democratic party, regarding McInerney's appointment.

Brennan had said that McInerney, vice-chairman of the Young Republicans in Levittown, was given a paid political job by the township supervisors "only a few months after the Young Republicans failed to nominate anyone to oppose those same supervisors in their campaign for re-election."

McInerney, who is also a teacher, was accused by Brennan of holding not only one but two full-time jobs on public payroll. As recreation director, he gets $3,600 a year.

In answering Brennan's charge that McInerney was appointed to pay a political debt, Doheny stated that the appointment came as a result of a unanimous vote of all members of the School Board as well as of the Board of Township Supervisors. It was also approved, he said, by all members of the Recreation Council.

Doheny said that the "two full-time jobs on public payrolls" is a ridiculous charge, as well as the charge that $3600 was a large salary.

Says Salary is Too Low.
"Should a man put in a full teaching day, then turn to an even harder and more detailed job for from eight to ten hours more each day for seven days a week, just for his teacher's salary?" Doheny asked. He said that the School Board didn't feel that a man should, and that he personally considers the salary entirely too low.

Doheny said it should even be raised, for, if a man "works hard all day and does his job, he should be paid for it whether he holds two, three, or a half dozen different public or private jobs."

Doheny accused Brennan of inconsistency in his accusations. "On one hand, he says the Republicans of Falls Township have kept Levittown and Fairless Hills people out of local offices and, on the other, he infers McInerney's appointment was a political plum."

Doheny said also that he did not believe the School Board could be dictated to in making its decisions. "I for one," he said, "am not taking political orders from anyone anywhere, and no political leader in the county, state or nation has ever attempted to tell me how I should vote."

Teachers To Hear Panel From Bucks

Court Warns Trinsey Bench Cannot Act As Legal Advisor and Judge, Too

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 14.—Hulmeville contractor-builder, John S. Trinsey, Jr., who is serving as his own attorney in a Common Pleas Court trial here, yesterday was warned by President Judge Hiram H. Keller about "running up to the bar of the court and asking too many questions."

"I can't advise and be the judge both," said President Judge Keller as Trinsey kept constantly conferring with the court at side bar conferences before asking the witness a question.

Trinsey is being sued for $433 by a Philadelphia couple, John M. Sarama and his wife, 437 Main street, Manayunk, Philadelphia.

County Health Unit Wins Indorsement Of Economy League

The Lower Bucks County branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League has indorsed the creation of a Bucks County public health unit it is announced by the county-wide citizens' committee for a public health department. Mrs. Arthur Vogel of New Hope is chairman of the county committee. The Economy League is largely representative of industrial management.

The Bucks County Council of the CIO has indorsed and will support at the polls Nov. 3 the proposed County Health Department, according to Paul Pinto of Bristol. Pinto says the County Council of CIO represents 19 locals and 25,000 workers. Although Bristol has its own municipal health department, these groups feel that many workers there live in surrounding townships and boroughs which are unprotected in public health service.

Speaking this week in behalf of a County Health Department are: Joseph W. Mathieu at the Washington Crossing Rotary Club meeting; Mrs. Robert Kelso at the Makefield PTA; Mrs. William C. Redding at the Women's Auxiliary of the Morrisville Church of the Incarnation; David Clarke at the Falls Township Lions Club; Mrs. Wilber E. Harvey at the Makefield Civic association. Mrs. Harvey is public health chairman of the Yardley-Morrisville League of Women Voters which has been engaged in spadework on a county public health unit for the past year.

Board Will Hear Bensalem Row On School Buses

The cost of school buses and the effect on taxes are on the agenda for tonight's meeting of the Bensalem Township School Board. The group will meet at 7:30 in the high school building.

An attack will be spearheaded by Raymond Wink, Walter Hilsbos and Albert Schultz of the township's Democratic executive committee.

Hilsbos, speaking for the committee, said: "The school board is outdated in its methods. We feel it is the duty of the taxpayers to own and operate their own school buses."

Paving An Issue Too
Hilsbos referred to the school board's practice of contracting for school buses. He said the committee is interested in knowing why the board contracted for paving done around the schools, instead of using the township equipment.

In a prepared statement, in answer to Board President Robert B. VanSant's statement that it costs less to send a pupil to high school in Bensalem township than anywhere else in the county, the committee said:

"Why then, with such economy, must we pay the highest per capita ($15.00) school tax in Bucks County? All of our neighboring municipalities own and operate their school buses at cost. Bensalem School Board still keeps the gray train running for contractors."

Trevose Delegation Due
"Not only do the Bensalem Township School Directors pay a contractor to furnish and operate school buses, but they are the cheerful givers of contracts for paving around school houses, while we, the taxpayers, own all the equipment that can do this work. Not to say anything about the road men we have on our payroll that have all the know how to do this work for cost."

A delegation from the Trevose-Penn Valley PTA will attend the meeting to protest what they describe as a "hazardous" situation, involving first grade children.

At the present time first graders in the afternoon session are dismissed at 4:50 p. m., making it necessary for some of them to walk along busy roads at dusk.

College Will Honor Former Prisoner
A Marine captain who was a Red prisoner for 23 months will be honored by the National Agricultural College at its Home Coming day Saturday at Doylestown.

Captain Charles F. Martin, who was recently released from a Communist prison camp in North Korea, was a graduate of the class of 1950 at National Aggies. The flyer was reported a Communist prisoner in November, 1951, after being forced to bail out 70 miles over Red lines.

A native of Philadelphia, he attended Germantown High School before entering the agricultural college. Capt. Martin will spend Saturday on the college campus and will attend the scheduled football game with Susquehanna University.

I.O.O.F. To Observe 110th Birthday
Odd Fellows and their friends will observe the 110th anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in the Bristol region at St. James P. E. parish house at seven p. m. Saturday.

The Ladies Guild of St. James Church will serve a roast turkey supper. A short program is planned, with an address by John B. Thompson, Philadelphia, Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. Mr. Thompson was named secretary of the order at the last Grand Lodge elections. Four acts of professional entertainment have been obtained.

Hopkins Lodge No. 87, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, was granted its charter Oct. 16, 1843, by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania and has been actively engaged in fraternal work ever since.

Meetings are held every Thursday at eight p. m. on the third floor of their hall, Walnut and Radcliffe streets. Members gather in its club room on the first floor other nights of the week for social meetings.

Burlington Bridge Regains Spotlight In Suit Over Sale

The Burlington-Bristol Bridge bubble, after drifting from the scene in the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge deal of 1948, has burst forth again as stockholders press a suit for the recovery of $3,000,000 allegedly illegal profits in a drawn out litigation which begins today in New York, N. Y.

syndicate headed by Clifford R. Powell, former Burlington County Republican leader, and resold within a matter of a month, to the Burlington County Bridge Commission at nearly double the purchase price.

Last year, after its appearance before the New Jersey Supreme Court, the syndicate was ordered to pay the State of New Jersey the $3,000,000. The court, in its decision, ruled that the sale was fraudulent. However, instead of nullifying the sale the court ruled that the state should receive the disputed profits.

Offered To Settle
Rather than comply with the court order, the syndicate offered to settle for $1,000,000. The state remained adamant and has rejected any agreement. Up to now New Jersey has collected only $500,000, which was turned over by the Chemical Bank & Trust Co., of New York.

Meanwhile, the stockholders of the Tacony-Palmyra Bridge, set their sights on the $3,000,000 bubble and started action in 1948, but an agreement placed the suit in abeyance until now. A full hearing has been scheduled for Dec. 7 before Federal Judge Phillip Forman at Trenton, N. J.

David Berger, Philadelphia attorney representing 1100 stockholders, will cross-examine Robert M. Sheritt, a Chicago promoter who was instrumental in swinging the package deal for the syndicate.

Got $6,487,500
In the suit, the stockholders maintained that Sheritt, as president of the Sarjem Corp., an Illinois corporation, obtained stock from them in 1948 by fraudulent means. They received $6,487,500 for the sale.

Berger and Arthur Lewis, of Camden, who are pressing the suit, have ignored the claim of $3,000,000 by the state of New Jersey. They said the syndicate could afford to pay the amount to both state and the stockholders.

They charged that the Sarjem Corp. had already planned to make a quick turnover in the sale of the bridges to the new bridge commission for $10,500,000.

Dispute Agreement
Sheritt is also accused of misrepresentation. A paper he mailed them purporting to be an agreement of sale turned out to be simply an option to buy. It was charged.

In signing this document, it turned out that the stockholders were also signing proxies and with these the Sarjem Corp. was able to get control of the bridge before paying out any money, the bill states.

The syndicate sold both bridges to the new commission for $12,400,000. Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, declaring the state had been considering exercising its right to buy both bridges for $4,900,000, ordered an investigation, which resulted in the state's court victory.

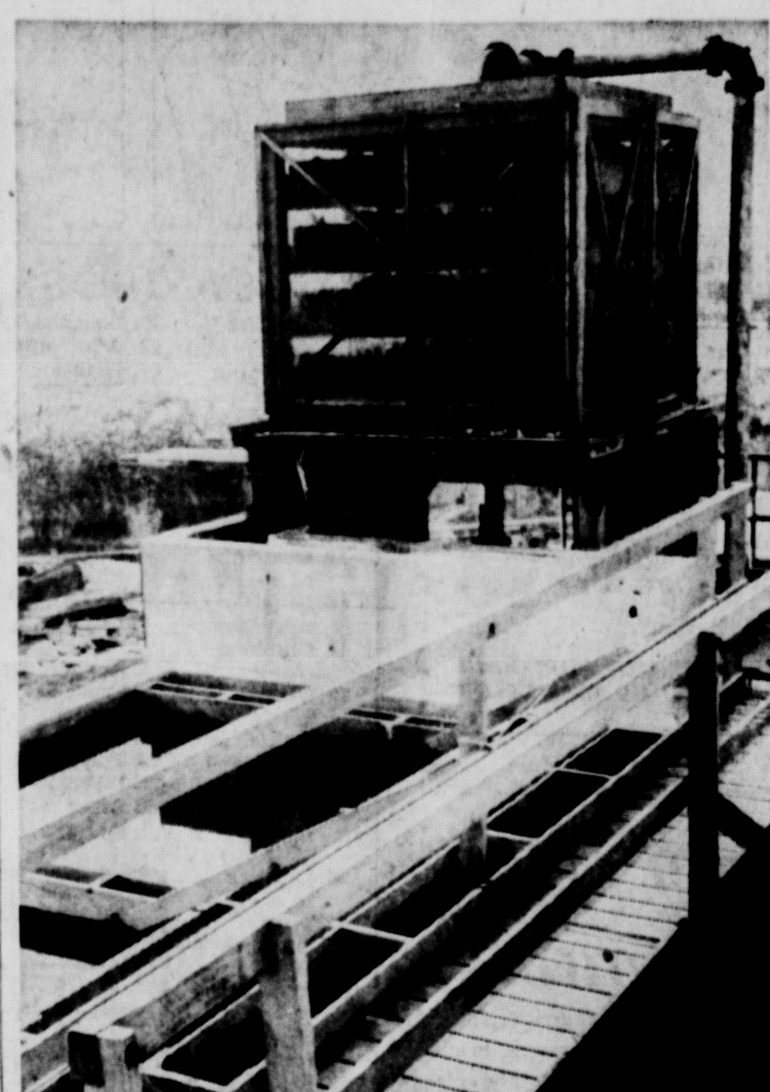

Testimony disclosed that Powell, his wife, son and daughter owned a fourth of the bridge package. It was estimated that he made a net profit of $396,545.

179 Members Listed
Francis Bossler, chairman of the membership committee, reported 179 members in the club. He then introduced the following new members: A. Viola Keast, Lawrence Rizzo and Mary E. Havley from the Badenhausen Corporation, and Harold C. Dear from the Budd Company.

The meeting was turned over to Jules Mahalek, chairman of the program committee, who outlined the program for the year.

Millon, speaker for the evening, said: "The foreman or supervisor in any plant is the most important person in the plant. He must make decisions every hour of the day. He is the one who makes the plant run. The foreman is the boy who can tell you the facts whether a

Club Hears Ideas On Control of Waste

Louis M. Millon, resident manager of the Ternstedt division of the Trenton plant of General Motors, spoke on "Waste Control" at the first fall dinner meeting of the Bucks County Industrial Management Club, last night in the Edgely Fire Company Hall.

The Rev. Edward G. Yeomans, pastor of the Bristol Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation. Fred Herman presided.

Herman announced the club was sponsoring a course in Public Speaking to be given by Penn State at the Bristol High School. The course will start on Oct. 26 and will run for eight weeks.

How It Started
"The question on your mind is how did we get into waste control. As anyone can tell you, a company to succeed must have a good sound organization. The first thing we did was look into costs in the plant. We found that about 65 per cent was going into material, 12 or 13 per cent into direct labor, only 10 per cent into supervision and a little bit more into supplies. Thus the biggest percentage was going into material, and the foreman controlled the use of it."

"You don't just make a good foreman in two weeks. It takes a lot of time and money to train a good foreman. The first thing we did was to teach the foreman that he was manager of his section with people, equipment and material to make 'X' number of parts. Part of his training was the proper use of supplies. In doing this, we also built a program of preventive maintenance."

"The first thing we did was to check on stuff that had not been moved in a number of years. Also, we looked into what items could be used over and over instead of using new items all the time. After this survey, the next thing was to teach the employee the proper way of using supplies and equipment to cut costs."

"Most programs of improvements are designed for direct labor. The program of waste control was designed for all labor, indirect and direct. It is a well known fact all things not used wisely are a waste. You must make the improvements in all phases of the workings of the plant."

In closing, Millon said: "It is surprising what you can do if you let yourself go on a few simple ground rules and how much can be saved in the plant by common sense in the use of supplies and the proper instruction to employees."

A film called "Clean Waters" was shown by Sam Brumgard and Frank Kraph of General Electric.

Mrs. Morris Trimmer, resource chairman for International Relations, has charge of the meeting, which is open to the public.

Groves Visions A-Bomb Danger In Spy Activities

Cites Easy Access To Information Of All Kinds in U. S.

By James L. Kilgallen
(Copyright, 1953, by I.N.S.)

NORWALK, Conn., Oct. 14.—Lt. Gen. Leslie R. Groves, U.S.A., retired, an authority on atomic bomb warfare, warned today that the Federal government "must clamp down on spy centers within the United States."

This, said the head of the famed Manhattan A-bomb Project of World War II, should be one of the government's first steps in formulating a strong defense against a possible atom or hydrogen bomb attack.

Gen. Groves, now vice-president of Remington Rand, Inc., referred specifically to the Russian embassy in Washington and the United Nations in New York as places that have to be watched carefully for espionage.

"Cut Information Flow"
He said, it is imperative that the Federal government take steps to "reduce the amount of information that flows to Russia."

The general's remarks about spying within America came as he was explaining that Soviet Russia undoubtedly has the capacity to deliver the most destructive weapons ever devised by man on chosen targets in the United States.

"I think it is a terrible thing to permit Russia to operate active espionage centers in this country," Gen. Groves declared. "I am referring to places such as the Russian embassy in Washington and the United Nations."

"We know that the Russian embassy was involved in espionage during World War II. In fact, espionage went on throughout the country because of our week-kneed policy of permitting Russian nationals to travel unimpeded throughout the United States."

"Not only did they go wherever they wanted, but they were assisted in obtaining information by government officials and other Americans who had swallowed the doctrine that they were our loyal allies and that Russia was one of the world's great democracies."

"Spying by Communists in America, and elsewhere, is one of the great dangers of the atomic age."

Capacity To Deliver
Gen. Groves pointed out that atomic weapons can reach America in many ways, now that Russia has the capacity to deliver them.

He explained: "They can be delivered by airplane. A hostile nation can strike us through guided missiles, the range of which undoubtedly is constantly increasing."

Subs A Possibility
"Atomic weapons can be brought to our harbors by surface vessels and set off without even being removed from the ship."

"They can be brought to our harbors by submarines or launched as guided missiles from submarines lying off our shores."

"Or, worst of all, they could be placed in advance of the outbreak of hostilities at concealed locations throughout the United States. It is obvious that this method would be the most terrifying of all."

Free Access Blamed
"Certainly the chances of this being done are greatly increased by the way we in America permit free access to our country to Russians and to the nationals of the Soviet satellite states and their agents."

Gen. Groves said there is no question that foreign agents can continue to obtain valuable information about our atom and hydrogen bomb developments if they are allowed the full freedom of a democracy.

He said they are able to get important information through the Russian embassy or at the United Nations or elsewhere.
